What is FitForum? What is its purpose and appropriate use?

FitForum is an email-based list forum.

The purpose of FitForum is the dissemination of information of interest to the Florida Tech community. This includes announcements of events on campus, dates and deadlines, and discussions of academic and philosophical issues.

Students, faculty, and staff may subscribe to fitforum using their fit.edu e-mail address. This list is less restricted than facforum and may include postings of items for sale, roommates wanted, etc. However, postings must adhere to the Florida Institute of Technology policy on responsible use of information technology and listserv "netiquette".

Please use an appropriate subject line to identify your post.

View how to subscribe here and unsubscribe here